"In the next decade, there will be 1 pound of plastic in the ocean for every 3 pounds of fish. Plastic pollution is slowly coming into focus as a planetary crisis."

- Judith Enck

Former EPA Regional Administrator,
Visiting Professor at Bennington
College and founder of Beyond
Plastics

Join us as we explore how to build a grassroots movement against single use plastic packaging in Western New York. We will discuss how to work on policy changes in addition to consumer change.

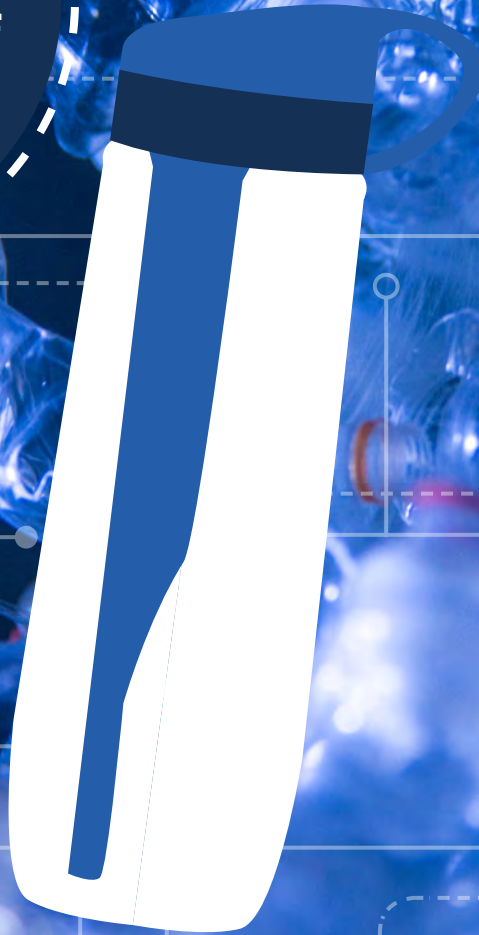

Local advocacy organizations will be present to share updates on what is happening regionally to reduce plastic pollution.
