FY 2011/12 Organization Budget

Budget breakdown of expense attributed to Erie County

The Center for Exploratory and Perceptual Art will use its Erie County cultural funding for general operating support. For 2012 Erie County Cultural funds will be used to cover in part staff salaries, rent, and utilities. By helping to offset CEPA's core expenses, Erie County funding has a major impact on all of CEPA's programs.

CEPA Gallery provides Erie County residents with unique cultural offerings through its major programs – Gallery and Satellite Exhibitions, Public Art Installations throughout the region, Youth Education Programs, Workshops and open darkroom and computer lab access, Artist Residencies, Artist Workspace Facilities, Publications, Visiting Artist lectures, and artist and student services like Internships and artist grant management. With its highly visible Theatre District location, CEPA Gallery remains downtown Buffalo's oldest and largest visual arts organization and gallery; the only organization in Western New York dedicated to the photographic and digital arts; and the only regional organization with open access darkroom and computer imaging facilities.

CEPA brings artists, curators, and critics from throughout the world into Western New York for exhibitions, artist residencies, and youth and community outreach initiatives. CEPA's programs and activities are nationally and internationally recognized, providing great benefits to Erie County as a whole.

Erie County funding also provides CEPA with a base of General Operating Support that is essential in leveraging monies from public and private sources to fund all of CEPA's varied important arts, education and community programming. CEPA uses Erie County cultural funding to match many inportant state and federal grant and many local foundations and granting sources use Erie County cultural funding as a measuring device in determining an organization's ability and value to the community at large. CEPA's long funding history with Erie County demonstrates to those funders that CEPA is very able to administer the funds received in a responsible and thoughtful manner.

Another important aspect of Erie County funding has always been its reliability as a budget anchor—funds that can be counted on and from around which yearly budgets can begin to be constructed. Combined with NYSCA general operating support, Erie County funds make up a substantial portion of CEPA's general administration budget allowing a large percentage of earned income and private sector support to go directly to programming and services.
