

ERIE COUNTY LANCASTER-ALDEN AGRICULTURAL DISTRICT NO. 16 EIGHT-YEAR REVIEW REPORT

PREPARED BY: ERIE COUNTY DEPARTMENT OF ENVIRONMENT & PLANNING
 FOR: ERIE COUNTY AGRICULTURAL & FARMLAND PROTECTION BOARD
 ERIE COUNTY LEGISLATURE
 PURSUANT TO: SECTION 303-A OF THE AGRICULTURE AND MARKETS LAW

OVERVIEW

The Lancaster-Alden Agricultural District, which is comprises lands in the Towns of Lancaster and Alden, was initially created on April 28, 1983, and is undergoing its fourth eight-year review. The present district contains 9,356 acres. In August 2014, notifications were mailed to all property owners within the district to notify them of the district review, and inviting modification requests.

NATURE AND STATUS OF FARMING AND FARM RESOURCES

Farms in Erie County are diverse and include dairy, vegetable, greenhouse, fruit, cash crops, horse, maple syrup, poultry, various livestock, Christmas tree, and aquaculture. Dairy farm sales top the list with nursery and greenhouse sales second, and vegetables third. In total, Erie County farm sales were just over $117 million in 2007.

The 2007 Census of Agriculture reported that Erie County had 1,215 farms with 149,356 acres in production covering 22% of the county's land base. The number of farms decreased by 6% from 2002 to 2007 and there was an 8% loss of farmland in the county. Most of the farms in Erie County are small – 62% of the farms grossed less than $10,000, and almost half of the farms work less than 50 acres. All of these farms as a group contribute substantially to the county economy and agricultural landscape.

The Lancaster Alden Agricultural District is located within an area of Erie County that is experiencing some development pressure, which has resulted in a reduction of agricultural district lands in this area during prior recertification periods. There is limited water and sewer in this district. Strong agricultural communities are found to the south and east of the district, which bodes well for the continuation of agricultural operations in towns that were once heavily farmed.

Bands of prime soils pass through the lands of the Lancaster-Alden Agricultural District. Other soils found in the district tend to be New York State prime or important soils. This adds to agricultural viability within the District.

District Modifications

Two modification requests were received during the eight-year review:

REQUEST	PARCEL	ACRES	PARCEL ADDRESS	TOWN	LANDOWNER
Removal	116.00-3-28.17	6.1	5600 William Street	Lancaster	Richard & Cheryl Dillon
Inclusion	118.00-2-17	48	11790 Broadway	Alden	Helen & James Giczkowski

EXTENT TO WHICH COUNTY AND LOCAL COMPREHENSIVE PLANS, POLICIES, AND OBJECTIVES ARE CONSISTENT WITH AND SUPPORT THE DISTRICT

Framework for Regional Growth

The “Framework for Regional Growth” was adopted as Erie County’s comprehensive plan. The Framework regards the district lands within the Towns of Lancaster and Alden as rural. The Framework encourages reinvestment and redevelopment of the developed areas of the county, reduce the extension of water and sewer infrastructure into the developing and rural areas of the county, and halt the conversion of agricultural lands. These goals are in accordance with the goals and intent of the State Agricultural Districts Program.

Agricultural & Farmland Protection Plan

The new Erie County Agricultural and Farmland Protection Plan, which was completed in October 2012, creates innovative strategies to guide the County to identify and protect agricultural land with development pressure, support new farms and attract new farmers to Erie County, identify strategies to increase the financial viability of agriculture in the County, connect rural and urban farmers with consumers and new markets, and increase accessibility of healthy, local food for consumers.

Local Comprehensive Plans

The district includes lands from the Town of Lancaster and Alden. When county funding became available to municipalities for the development of new or revision of existing comprehensive plans, the Erie County Department of Environment and Planning provided guidelines for a farmland protection element in those plans. As a result, many local comprehensive plans now include a section on agricultural lands and means of protecting such lands. The two communities in the Lancaster Alden Agricultural District used these funds to update or replace their comprehensive plans to include an agricultural preservation component.

The Town of Lancaster Comprehensive Plan acknowledges that agricultural lands are a valuable resource that must be protected. The Plan includes numerous goals and policies in support of agriculture. The plan states that large-scale land subdivisions and sewer extensions should not be allowed within Agricultural Districts. The plan also recommends that the Town of Lancaster should update its zoning ordinance and zoning map to include preservation of the eastern most portions of the Town as agricultural.

Farming and agriculture are historic land uses in the Town of Alden, which is due in part to the abundance of soils throughout the area that are well suited for crop production. The Town of Alden Comprehensive Plan encourages growth patterns, land use policies, and conservation measures that are respectful of agricultural operations and productive farmland. The Plan calls for efforts to build public support for the community’s farms and farmers and promote, protect and assist agriculture as a functional sector of the local economy.

Right-To-Farm Legislation

The Erie County Legislature adopted a County Right to Farm Law effective January 1, 2001. This law recognizes the importance of agriculture to Erie County and alerts prospective buyers of property adjacent to or within an agricultural district to the impacts of agricultural practices (e.g. noise, dust, odors, etc.). The disclosure notice to be signed at the time of contract sale is also a part of the county law. The Towns of Lancaster and Alden have also enacted right-to-farm laws, recognizing agriculture as an important part of their economy.

EXTENT TO WHICH THE DISTRICT HAS ACHIEVED ITS ORIGINAL OBJECTIVES

The Lancaster-Alden Agricultural District No. 16 has met its intended goal, and in conjunction with the other Agricultural Districts within Erie County, formed the foundation for the County’s future actions towards agricultural protection and enhancement.

DEGREE OF COORDINATION BETWEEN LOCAL LAWS, ORDINANCES, RULES, AND REGULATIONS

The Towns of Lancaster and Alden currently enforce Zoning Ordinances, with district lands falling predominantly within agricultural residential use zoning districts, which are designed to accommodate primarily agricultural and rural residential uses. Farms and agricultural operations are allowed by right in these districts.

RECOMMENDATION

Based upon the findings contained within this report, it is recommended that the Erie County Legislature renew the Lancaster-Alden Agricultural District No. 16 with the aforementioned addition and deletion.
